

ENSPiRE'D TALKS "Conversations Worth Having!"

GUEST SPEAKERS

Callum Oberholzer

Callum has worked for both local startups and international companies in the product and advertising worlds. He partnered with Open Data Durban in 2017 and played a technical and design role in the product pipeline in all of their platform based projects.

In 2018 he founded Black Box, a digital product design and development company that would specialize in co-solving real world problems. The Black Box team has been building innovative products for clients such as PwC, UKZN, The Coffee Magazine and Open Cities Labs, and currently has some exciting innovations in the market, along with some new ones still in the pipeline.

Nkululeko Mthembu

Nkululeko is Director at PISTA, a research, design and innovation firm at the intersection of design thinking, cultural intelligence and technology. The meeting of these three disciplines is what I call innovation.

Through research, designing products, services and enhanced customer journeys, I unlock value to help organisations realise innovation in VUCA environments. A multi-faceted combination of these disciplines help me solve problems in retail, banking, education, technology, government and corporate Africa.
